1959

Seventy-Fifth Anniversary

THE ANNIE WRIGHT SEMINARY
TACOMA, WASHINGTON

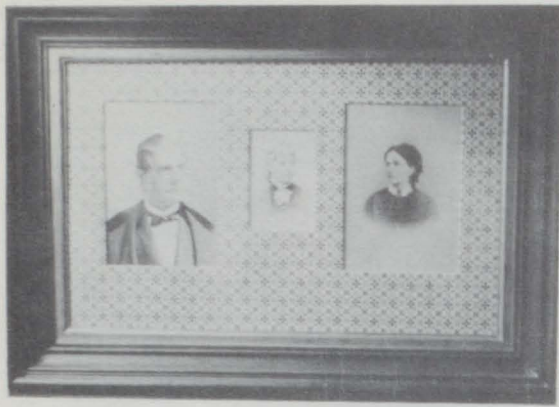

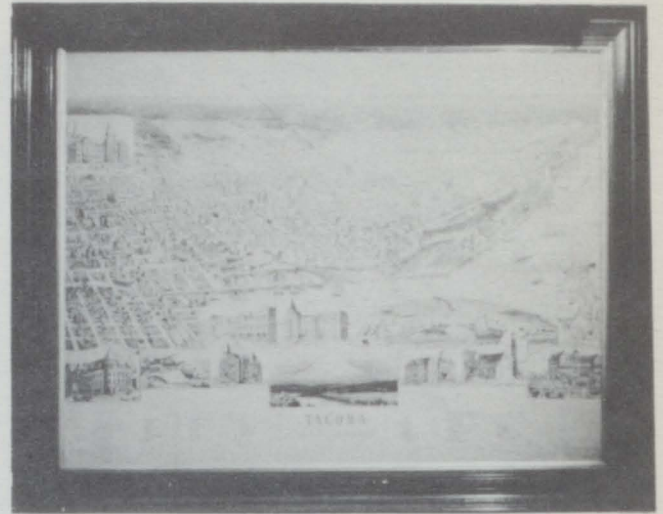

MISS RUTH JENKINS, L.H.D.

We, the Class of 1959, dedicate our anniversary Shield to you, who have given of yourself fully and selflessly to this school. Your faith and thoughtful guidance have developed in us a spirit which has influenced our lives here, a spirit by which we can measure ourselves as responsible adults in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Wright and Annie Wright

"FROM STRENGTH TO STRENGTH"

In the spring of 1881, the Right Reverend John Adams Paddock and his family traveled to the Pacific Northwest from Brooklyn, New York. After his establishment as leader of the newly created Missionary District of Washington Territory, the Bishop spoke of his hopes to supplement the educational facilities of the area. When Charles B. Wright of Philadelphia, President of the Northern Pacific Railroad and of the Tacoma Land Company, heard of Bishop Paddock's plan to found a school, he offered three land tracts in Tacoma and fifty thousand dollars. Bishop Paddock raised a necessary twenty-five thousand more by contacting many of his friends in the East. Construction of a building on the outskirts of Tacoma at the corner of Tacoma and Division Avenues began in the late spring of 1884. That summer Bishop Paddock, Mr. Wright, and his daughter, Annie, in whose honor the Seminary was named, were present for the laying of the cornerstone. Soon the Reverend and Mrs. Lemuel H. Wells arrived, she to be the principal of the Annie Wright Seminary and he to become rector of St. Luke's Church, which was built at the same time. Included on the new faculty was Mrs. Amanda Whittlesley Raynor, beloved vice-principal of the school for twenty-three years.

In the fall of 1884 the doors were opened to ninety-three girls from Washington, Oregon, and British Columbia, and to one who had spent nearly a month coming by wagon train from Alaska. They came, according to the first catalogue, to have "not only the intellect but also the character, manners, and morals of the pupil" developed. This catalogue also extolled the virtues of the English, French, German, Latin, Music and Drawing facilities, and it stated that "the Art Department gives a rare opportunity to persons wishing to study . . . decoration on china, plush, and velvet." The tuition for the year was three hundred dollars for each boarding student plus thirty dollars for modern language study.

The years passed, but the ideals of the Seminary remained constant. To the Right Reverend Frederic W. Keator, Bishop of Olympia, 1902-1924, the school seemed to be "a real home where [the girls] would make lasting friendships and learn truths that would help them to build characters of real worth." The Board of Trustees realized in 1924 that if the Seminary were to fulfill its ideals and continue to give the best opportunities to the students, a larger building was necessary. Bishop Keator and Miss Adelaide B. Preston, headmistress of the time, led the drive for money to erect a new building a few blocks west on Tacoma Avenue. In September, 1924, the enlarged Annie Wright Seminary, including Raynor Chapel, named in memory of the first vice-principal, opened. Its ten-acre grounds furnished space for a hockey field, tennis courts, and extensive lawns.

Gradually the new school assumed its present dignity with ivy-covered walls and grounds landscaped with shrubs and trees given by each graduating class. By 1935, the Golden Anniversary year, a girl might follow a strictly college preparatory course or a more general one, developed to fit the needs of those not interested in continuing their formal training. The physical education program offered a variety of sports, including tennis, golf, riding, swimming, basketball, hockey, and skiing. That same year an outdoor pageant, "The Masque of the Golden Age," was produced by students, faculty, and alumnae. Through song, dance, and story, the life and spirit of the Seminary's fifty years were revealed, and even a briefly-suffered rainstorm could not destroy its grandeur.

Decreased enrollment in the 1930's and increased expenses during the early years of the Second World War forced the school to go deeply into debt. One fateful winter day in 1943, foreclosure of the mortgage was threatened. The Right Reverend S. Arthur Huston, President of the Board of Trustees, Miss Ruth Jenkins, newly-appointed headmistress, and the Board itself were given 48 hours in which to raise enough money to pay the most pressing obligations. Faith in and loyalty to the school prompted a wonderful response to a plea for aid from friends, alumnae and students. The crisis was averted.

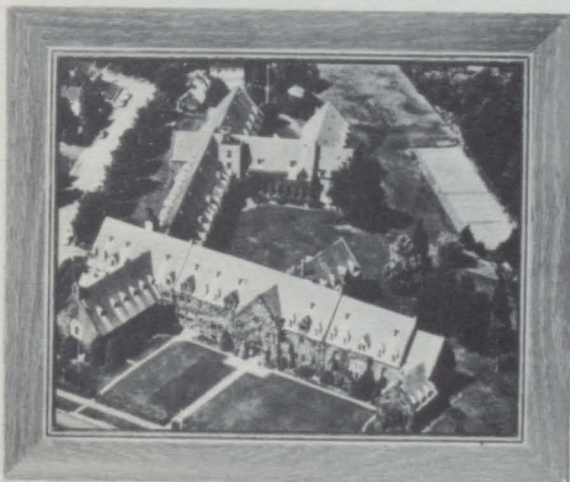

The debts were cancelled gradually. In 1947 the Right Reverend Stephen F. Bayne Jr. assumed the duties of President of the Board of Trustees. In November of 1954 a development program under the leadership of Miss Jenkins was initiated. With sufficient funds raised, ground was broken in January, 1957, for a wing to house classrooms, an assembly hall, and a dance studio. The autumn of the same year saw the opening of the Charles Wright Academy in the Lakewood area, and the boys moved from their one-room schoolhouse on the Seminary grounds. A second ground-breaking in April of 1959 was attended by the Most Reverend Arthur Lichtenberger, Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church in the United States. The present plans for expansion will be realized with the completion of this library wing.

1958-59 has been the Seminary's Diamond Jubilee. Students, parents, alumnae, faculty, and friends of the school have joined together to make this year, pictorially represented in this twenty-eighth Shield, a tribute to seventy-five years of labor and of achievement. They have done so with the certain knowledge that in the strength of the past and present lies even greater strength for the future.

Mrs. Thomas P. Harney, daughter of Annie Wright, was the commencement speaker.

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater, Seminary fair;
May achievements crown thy labors is our earnest prayer.

Deep and true as those blue waters thou art reared above,
May the characters thou moldest hold thee in their love.

Pure as yonder snow-clad mountains where our glances fall,
May we in the years to follow answer to thy call.

Chorus:

Hearts turned toward our Alma Mater, may our lives at length
Prove thy daughters bear thy motto, "On from strength to strength."

FRESHMEN

On September 10, 1958, the Class of 1962 was born into the Upper School. Its class song, to the tune of "Shortnin' Bread", announced a spirit of enthusiasm which was soon verified by the record-breaking result of the Freshman Magazine Drive. Class beanies and novelty hats were the project for their Christmas Carnival booth. "Flower Drum Song" aptly described the gaiety the Freshman-Sophomore Hop brought to January doldrums. Eager to supplement the Magazine Drive with another Service League project, the Class baked cookies for the Tacoma Day Nursery. While the upperclassmen danced away the night at the Junior Prom the Freshman had their own party, an overnight excursion to Lagerquist's. Having already made trash boxes for the Carnival, the ones they produced for May Day were masterpieces. Their Freshman year proved to be an exciting and enthusiastic beginning for the Class of 1962.

SOPHOMORES

Brimful of fun, thoughtful, and hardworking, these are the distinctive marks of the Sophomores. A notable first on their list of achievements was the unprecedented appointment of a second class representative, Caroline, to the Student Council. Creative success came through in their work of designing the fanciful decoration for the autumn semi-formal, "Neptune's Grotto", and the original stuffed animals, pillows, pictures, and signs for their Christmas Carnival booth. Hysterical skits followed in their eager campaign to wrap anything and everything in "SWP". But all were topped by the exciting and lovely "Flower Drum Song" sponsored with the Freshmen on January 31. Traditions are broken, and February 13 marked the first Sophomore Sales, bequeathed rather sadly to them by the Juniors. Using it, they continued to be "ready, willing, and able". They even donated to Service League some of the profits made by selling scrumptious food (including banana splits!). As the school year drew to a close, the class continued to work democratically in planning May Day responsibilities. A class dance at Thompson's sparked their last activities and they left Sophomore days eager to assume the status of Juniors in that spirit of the Class of '61.

The arrival of eight new girls, who added fresh ideas and personality to the Class of 1960, heralded the opening of an active and eventful year. In November, the Juniors revealed their varied dramatic talents in their presentation of "The Remarkable Incident at Carson's Corners". At the Christmas Carnival their booth on "The Champs Elysees", selling cookies and candy, proved to be one of the most popular. Tradition was broken this year as Lloyd, Chairman of Junior Sales, turned over the responsibility of satisfying the school's sweet tooth to the Sophomores. Their Lenten project, a pageant, "On the Eve of Holy Week", was a new concept for a class Service League Project, as it meant giving time and effort rather than money. Busy, excited, and secretive, the Juniors prepared to honor the Seniors at the traditional Spring Prom. Then came May Day, with Patsy radiant as Maid-of-Honor. Amid all the turmoil of activity, the class prepared for next year by learning the complications of the switchboard, bookstore, proctoring and all the other Senior Duties. Soon they began writing their Step Songs, which indicated only one thing to every Junior—Seniorhood—at last!

CLASS of 1959 SENIORS

As the Class of 1959 we made our debut in Kindergarten with Diane and Nancy representing this green tie class. Although our membership was small at the beginning, it soon came to include a large and enthusiastic group. By the freshman year we were ready to do things in a big way—and we did! With tremendous drive we set out to sell magazines for Service League and not long afterward, we captured the skit cup at Hallowe'en. During our sophomore year dance-decorating and the library received much attention; an added attraction was a style show on charm and beauty. Our junior year was a lively one, with our sense of humor showing itself in the comedy, You Can't Take It With You, as well as in Robin's witty Junior Sales announcements. The long-awaited Prom finally arrived, set in the romantic atmosphere of an old plantation garden. With step-singing we finally received the exalted title of Senior, and, taking a deep breath, we plunged head-on into the numerous activities awaiting us. Under Sue's leadership we worked hard to prepare a carnival representing Christmas in many lands, followed in two weeks by a festive Christmas tea. Throughout the year we entertained the school with movies, and brightened its spirits with mimicry and amusing announcements. All the while we were anxiously awaiting the all-important decision from the colleges. May Day came all too soon, and Cynthia reigned graciously over her court. A month later we greeted graduation somewhat sadly, reminisced over our years at A.W.S., and moved on to college, filled with hope for the future.

Onward to glory, onward to fame,
We've got the pep to back up our name.
Class of fifty-nine will fight—
Always and ever, green and white!
We're always loyal, we're always true;
We will always stand up for you
As we strive to reach our goal—
Onward "From strength to strength"!
